

The Real Accent App Series

Privacy Policy

Statement

Howard Weate Productions Ltd does not record, track or store Real Accent App users' personal data.

App Permissions

- Microphone

The Real Accent App requires access to your device's microphone in order to facilitate recording your own audio samples which can then be compared to native speaker samples included with the app.

Recordings you make are only stored locally on your device.

- Name

On initial set up, The Real Accent App asks for a name to be submitted in order to identify recordings you make from native speaker samples included with the app.

The name you enter is only stored locally on your device.

- Internal / External Drive Access & Shared Storage Access

After installation, The Real Accent App only accesses your device's file system in order to store and retrieve (record and play) samples you create using the app during the accent learning process as described under Microphone.

- Maps - Network / Internet Connection (1)

The Real Accent App uses your device's internet connection to provide geographical context information in the Background section of each accent. Depending upon platform, this information is provided through a live integration of Apple Maps / Google Maps / Amazon Maps. The Real Accent App does not record, track, store or submit location information to any of these services.

- News - Network / Internet Connection (2)

The Real Accent App includes a News section that allows users to find out about new releases in the app series and the wider Real Accent project in general. To view the news page requires an active internet connection.

The Real Accent App news page does not record, track or store visitor information.
